SUMMER SCHOOL ENDS

The summer session of the Ohio State University closed last Friday.
Almost 1,000 students were enrolled in the various courses during the summer. This was the greatest number that has ever been enrolled in this session. The increased attendance due largely to the new school for superintendents and the home-makers courses which were offered for the first time this year. The courses proved so satisfactory that they will be given again next year.

The new school year will open on September 15, at which time an enrollment of over 5,000 students is expected.

Interesting Liquor Figures

Citizens of Ohio are saved 21 cents per thousand dollars of tax valuation, by the saloons of the state; that is, it would cost each tax payer 21 cents more on each $1,000 on which he pays taxes, to be rid of the saloon altogether and if all the deficiency had to be made up by an increased levy. These figures have been compiled by the state auditor's office at the request of the Ohio Anti-Saloon League.

Against this they contrast the fact that the per capita drink bill in the United States is $21 per year and a few odd cents. This is from federal computations. In Kansas, where prohibition obtains, the per capita drink bill is $1 and a few odd cents.
This includes alcoholic liquors of all forms, for whatever purpose used.
Applying this saving of $20 per capita to the 5,000,000 population of Ohio the estimated saving is given at $100-000,000.

The total amount of money raised by the state of Ohio for the last fiscal year, by direct and indirect taxation was $15,578,000 according to the state auditor's office. If this entire sum were to be raised and there were to be no revenue from the taxation of liquor, it would cost 21 cents on each $1,000, more than at the present time.
The difference between the $100,000-000 and the $15,000,000 would remain in the purses of the people, according to the Anti-Saloon people.

they visited the pen of former Coun-there were on the place. Later the thieves appeared in an opposite quarter of town and purloined 12 fowls owned by Edward Flickinger.
